Work Experience

Teacher's Assistant, McGill University

Montréal, Québec, Canada, September – December 2009

As a TA for Philosophy 343, Biomedical Ethics, I conducted weekly conferences, provided office hours for two sections of approximately 25 students, and graded essays and exams.

Website Manager, Biomedical Ethics Unit, McGill University

Montréal, Québec, Canada, September 2009–Present

I am responsible for maintaining the content of the website for the Biomedical Ethics Unit.

Proprietor, B. G. Carlisle Web Design

London, Ontario, Canada, 2005–Present

I design websites for not-for-profit organizations, churches, local branches of insurance companies and other small businesses. I regularly use HTML, PHP, MySQL, Javascript, and write templates and themes for a number of common content-management systems.

Short-Term International Campus Intern, Power to Change

Shijiazhuang, Hebei, China, 2006–2007

As a campus intern, I studied the Chinese language and culture in order to provide training and guidance for university students in both the English and Chinese languages. I coordinated several short-term national and international exchanges, and personally fundraised over $30,000.

Sales assistant and short-order cook, Pita Hut

Stratford, Ontario, Canada, May – August 2004

My responsibilities included preparation and sales of food products, maintenance and cleaning of the serving area and kitchen, and the opening and closing of the store, often with minimal or no supervision.

Stock Handler, Spectra Premium Industries

Stratford, Ontario, Canada, June – July 2003

I managed resources at an after-market automobile radiator warehouse, working in coordination with a large team, and using industrial organizational technologies.
